EBEKMED WORKFORCE SUMMIT FOR NURSES

Ideation on Talent Acquisition and Retention

24th August 2024

Venue: Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel,

Ideation on Talent Acquisition and Retention

In association with

About the Conference

Ebekmed brings the 1st edition of a flagship Summit – Workforce Summit for Nurses, themed "Ideation on Talent Acquisition and Retention," which aims to convene industry pioneers, administrators, and thought leaders to address some of the most pressing human resources challenges facing our healthcare systems today.

This summit provides a vital platform where experts will explore major trends and challenges daunting HR management, including employee shortages vis-à-vis limited talent pool, declining retention rates, workforce dissatisfaction, quiet quitting, burnout, and rising labor costs. The focus will be on discovering opportunities for addressing these issues, with innovative solutions and actionable strategies aimed at transforming talent management and performance enablement.

These human resources issues are increasingly misaligned with the evolving expectations of a more digitized and educated patient base, which is demanding greater value-based healthcare interactions. As patients seek more personalized and efficient care, the gaps in our current systems only exacerbate the challenges faced by healthcare professionals, ultimately affecting the quality of care provided. Addressing these misalignments is crucial to enhancing both workforce satisfaction and patient outcomes.

Employees have been rethinking what work means to them, which means HR needs to reconsider talent acquisition strategies. People increasingly expect a holistic value proposition that includes career growth, skills development, inclusion, belonging, fairness, trust, authenticity, purpose, a supportive company culture, and wellness. To help employees remain engaged and perform at their best, HR should be open to evolving culture, processes, and norms. This involves exploring innovative strategies, developing comprehensive solutions, and providing precise guidance for performance enablement.
